X. Piszą nam z Krakowa, że p. Franciszek Matejko, kończy i przygotowuje do druku przekład ważnej i wielkiéj pracy Fr. Palackiego, Historji Czeskiéj. Sądzimy, że nie popełnim wielkiej niedyskrecji, wskazu-jąc, że oznaczona imieniem Edwarda Brzetysława, rozprawa o pieśniach serbskich w Bibliotece Warszawskiéj 1857 r., jest pióra dzisiejszego tłumacza Palackiego. Co się tycze dzieła tego, nie wątpimy, że znajdzie u nas mnogich czytelników i jak należy ocenionem zostanie. Na Zachodzie gdzie tak mało o Słowianach w ogóle i ich pisarzach wiedzą, i Palacki przecie zaslużył na obszerny niegdyś w Przeglądzie Dwóch Światów artykuł. U nas bardzo jest dotąd mało znanym, tak jak w ogóle Czechy, z którymi dawne nasze ścisłe stosunki w zupełną teraz zmieniły się obojętność. Ledwie imiona Hanki, Palackiego, Jungmana, zdala nam świecą. Ruchu umysłowego tego kraju, dzieł najnowszych, nie znamy prawie zu-

Ma zupełną słuszność tłumacz Palackiego, mówiąc, że dzieje Czech są w części polskiemi, zyskamy dla naszych światło nowe, pojąć je lepiéj będziemy mogli, gdy osądzone z innego stanowiska ujrzymy. Pożądaną więc bardzo jest rzeczą, ukazanie się téj pracy poważnéj i sumiennéj, a dla nas mającéj nawet więcéj niż dla innych krajów interesu. Jako próbę staranności przekładu, przywieść możemy wyjątek drukowany w Bibliotece, pod tytułem: Jan Hus i Sobór

Konstancjeński (1858).
